

When you call 9-1-1

It may be the first for you or a loved one,

For firefighters it could be the "Last Alarm" they hear

To save you or someone dear

When you call 9-1-1

An officer wearing a "Brown Shirt"

Is sent to make sure you're not hurt

Give them the respect they deserve

As they are all sworn to serve

When you call 9-1-1

A "Prayer to an EMT" or God above

They will rush to your side

Placing the safety of their own life behind

When you call 9-1-1

An "Angel in Blue" appears to someone,

"Blessed are the Peacemakers"

Is what it is written and said

They ask nothing in return for their friend,

Only to keep you safe

And out of harm's way before it's too late

On that fateful September 11th

Many came together, formed a bond among their brethren

One I hope they do not forget

Or the lives lost to families they never met,

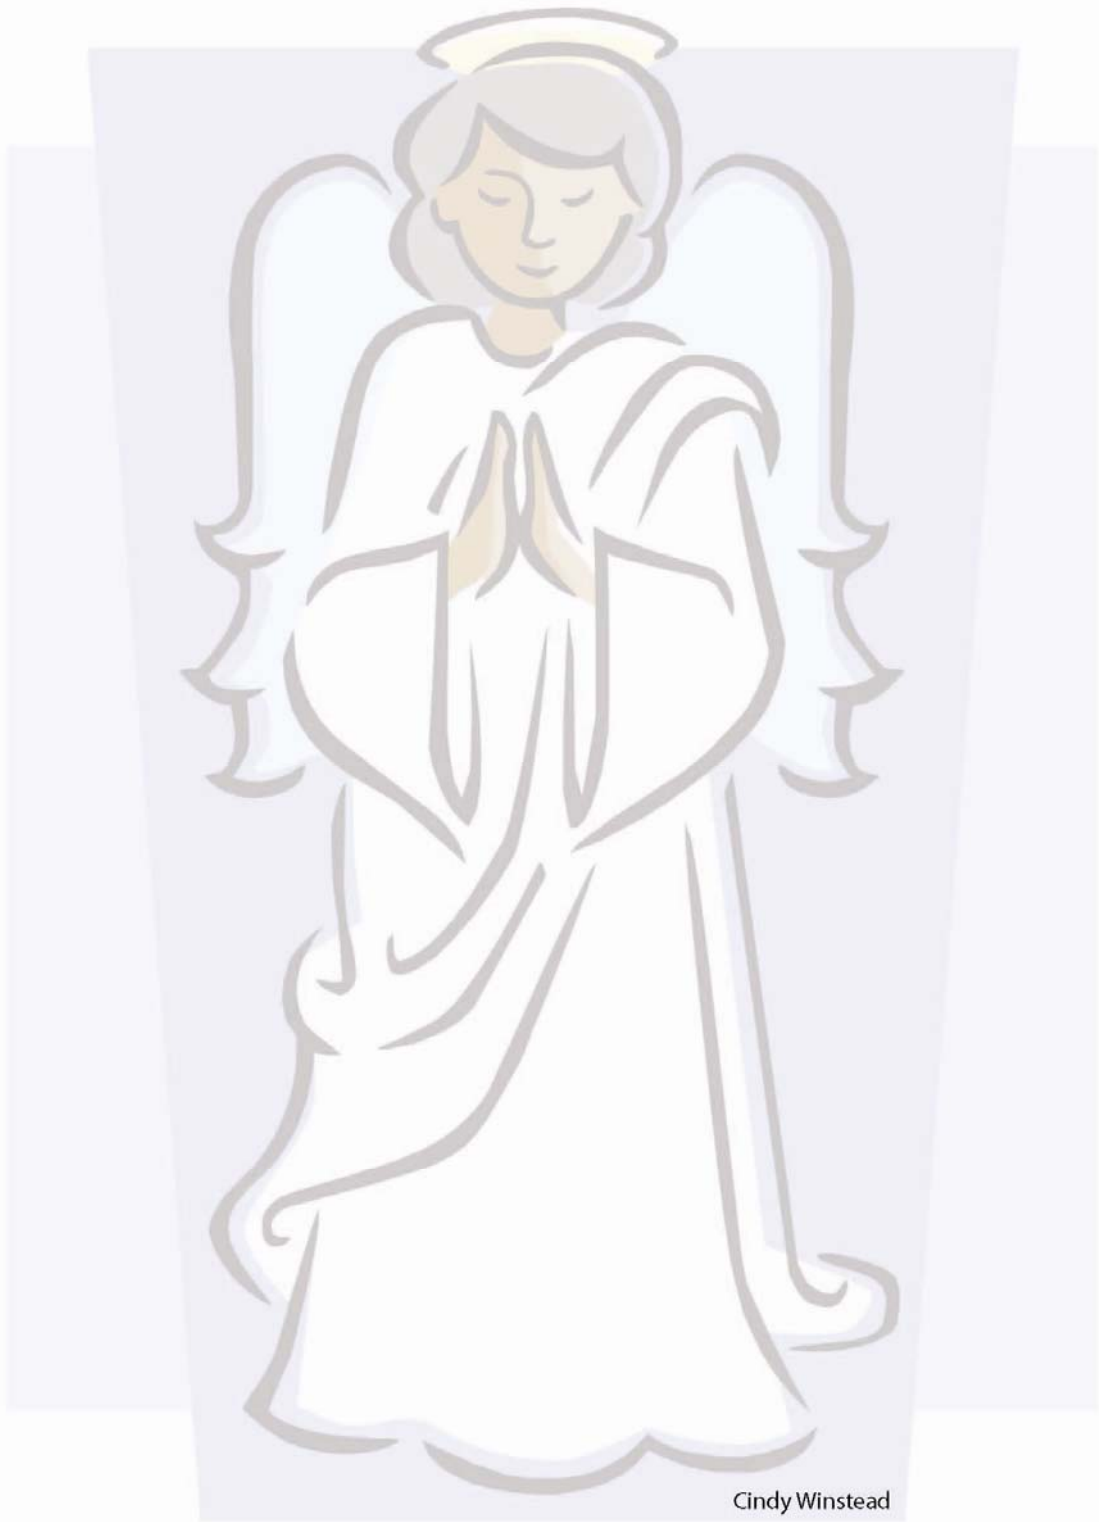

It was an act of hatred some believe

For many, too hard to conceive

Our brothers and sisters were deceived

Left emptiness in our heart for the world to see
